Fire Prevention To Be Stressed In Mokena Dist.

A standing committee to work with business men, farmers and householders on fire prevention has been appointed by Fire Chief Robert Rust of the Mokena volunteer department. Kenneth Warning will serve as chairman of the committee.

The group is to work the year round with the idea of eliminating fire hazards in the Mokena fire protection district.

This action was taken at a meeting of the fire department last week. There were 17 firemen present. Wesley Schultz attended a demonstration on handling LP-gas fires. It was staged at Lockport.

Chief Rust announced that firemen who wish to remain on the active list will have to complete their training exercises and attend their quota of meetings by the end of the year.

The Mokena fire district has ordered a new 750-gallon pumper for delivery the latter part of April. It is a John Beam truck and will carry a 750 gallon tank and necessary equipment.

Stanley Williams, president of the department, appointed George Haehnlein chairman of the committee to arrange the annual pinocle party to be held May 16. Kenneth Warning and Roy Newton were named co-chairmen for the annual dance that will follow on May 23. Both affairs will be held in the VFW hall on Wolf road.

PAUL SINGER, Chicago, is to be the guest speaker of Mu Alpha Theta, an honorary math. club of Lincoln-Way high school, Wednesday, night, Dec. 13, at the school. The meeting is at 7:30 o'clock and the public is invited. Senger is the assistant actuary of Continental Casualty Co., and is a member of the Chicago Actuarial Society. His topic will deal with the actuarial profession.

Bell Telephone Names New Manager For Area

He replaces Don F. Memler, who has been named district sales manager at Rockford.

Prior to his new assignment, he was division supervisor of results for the company's upstate division in Joliet.

Frankfort Licenses Coin Operated Amusement Devices

Frankfort now has an ordinance licensing pinball machines.

The measure adopted by the village board at its regular meeting Monday night not only licenses pinball machines but all coin operated amusement devices as set forth in the state statutes. Juke boxes are not described in the state measure followed by Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark in drafting the ordinance.

The ordinance is quite comprehensive, the attorney pointed out. Each machine owned or operated must have a license, even if only in storage. The licenses are not transferrable from one owner to another or from one machine to another.

A license can not be obtained by a person with a felony record, nor by a person of ill repute, the ordinance states, and if any of the machines so licensed are found to be gambling devices they are subject to confiscation and the owner is subject to a fine of not more than $200; if unable to pay a fine the person found guilty must serve out the fine in the county jail at the rate of $2 a day.

The person applying for a license must answer a number of questions pertaining to his antecedents and if he has any partners or if other persons or agencies own the machine or a part of the machine all must be listed. In the case of a partnership, two partners must sign the application for a license and if the application is made in behalf of a corporation it must be signed by the president and secretary.

The license fee itself is $25 per machine.

Liquor licenses are payable before Jan. 1. There are two taverns in Frankfort and it is expected that the licenses will be issued at the next meeting. Mayor George Sangmeister was unable to attend the meeting this week and since he is liquor commissioner decided to hold up the tavern licenses until the next session.

A representative of a radio manufacturer was present at the meeting Monday night to discuss the request of Sheriff

Baked Ham To Feature St. Mary Bazaar Dinner

The St. Mary Christmas bazaar will open with a complete baked ham dinner on Thursday, Dec. 5 at 5:30 p.m. in the social center, 195th and Wolf road. Donations: Adults, $1.50; children 75¢ and pre-schoolers, 25¢.

The bazaar will continue on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6 and 7, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. There will be a variety of items; wreaths, childrens hand sewn clothes, aprons, toys and many fine gifts and gadgets. A Country Store will also be featured. Proceeds will be used for the building fund.

Snow And Cold Brings Wintry Touch To Area

Wintry weather, which until this week confined itself to other sections of the country descended on Illinois Monday evening when snow followed on the heels of a steady drop in temperature. On Tuesday morning readings of 14 and 16 degrees above Zero were reported.

Approximately half an inch of snow fell in most of the area and since the temperature had chilled the surface, ground and streets were quickly blanketed.

Traffic flattened the snow and speedily polished highways with an ice coating that made driving treacherous. Several minor accidents were reported in the area but apparently the people involved escaped serious injury. There was one instance of the car sliding off U.S. 30 and rolling over on its top a short distance east of U.S. 45. The driver, Michael Urbano, 17, River road, Lincoln Estates, complained of a knee injury but declined medical attention. A passing motorist, Carlin French, of Arbury Hills, stopped and helped young Urbano from the car.

The state highway department called crews out early and with the distribution of cinders and salt soon had the situation in hand and before midnight traffic was moving almost normally.

Until this week it has been a mild fall, with temperatures above normal. There has been a general complaint because of the lack of rain, however. A lot of snow will be necessary this winter to compensate for the dearth of moisture.

Orland Youth, 3 Friends Die In Airplane Crash

John G. Apel Jr., 18, of 8410 Paloma Dr., Orland Park, was killed with three other college freshmen Nov. 28 when their plane crashed into a mountain and burned near Princeton, Mass.

All four youths were students at Parks College of Aeronautical Technology, East St. Louis, a branch of St. Louis university. They were among eight students who had flown from St. Louis in two planes to spend the Thanksgiving holiday in the east.

Massachusetts state police said John had rented the plane, and that both he and Glenn Bridgman, 18, of Blackstone, Va., also killed, were registered pilots.

Police said the plane crashed about half way from the summit of 2,100-foot Mt. Wachusett. A directional error is suspected as the prime cause of the crash. The Cessna 182 left the runway at Princeton, Mass., Thursday at 6:01 p.m. on a flight to Boston. The plane, in a routine radio check three minutes later, said it was five miles from the airport and was headed in an easterly direction. This, officials said, would have placed the plane directly over the city. When it crashed into the mountain the plane was 20 to 25 miles northwest of the area. The time was about 6:15. John is the son of John G. Apel Sr. and Esther A. Apel and the brother of Edwin L. He was a graduate of Carl Sandburg high school.

Services were held Monday, Dec. 2 at 2 p.m. from Schmaed-cke Funeral Home in Worth and interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

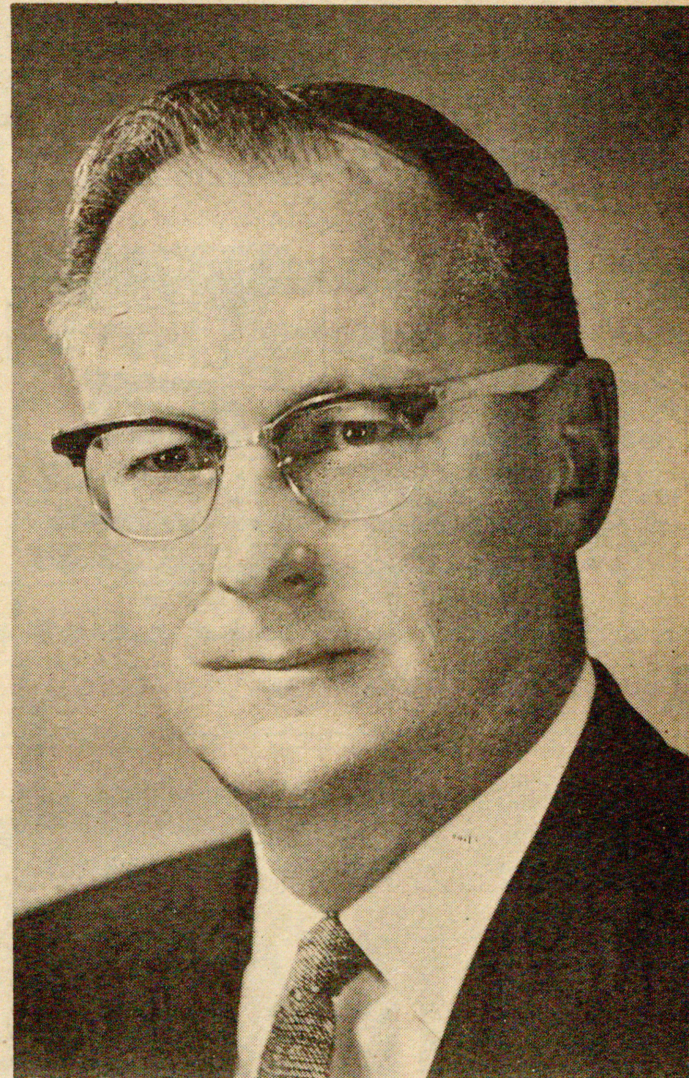

Partners Without Partners will meet Saturday, Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. at the Joliet YMCA. A minister from one of the churches in Wilmington will be the speaker for the evening.

Plans are underway for a childrens Christmas party Sunday, Dec. 15 and an adult Christmas party, Saturday night, Dec. 21.

For details phone Marge Mackender, Joliet 726-8666.

An invitation is extended to all members and others who may be interested. This is a non-sectarian organization made up of persons from Joliet and all surrounding towns.

Persons who fail to have their vehicles off the streets at night when the snowfall is two inches or better will have towing charges to pay, as well as fines, it was pointed out.

PAUL F. BRUMUND, of Joliet, a candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, has been meeting residents of the New Lenox-Mokena-Frankfort area the past week in his quest for votes. He is 47 years old, a native of Joliet where he has always lived; married and has four children. Served in the army in World War II. Has practiced law since 1947, thus following in the footsteps of his father, the late Frank G. Brumund. Paul Brumund was assistant state's attorney from 1952 to 1955. In the latter year he became corporation counsel of the city of Joliet, a position he still fills. He is a past president of the Will County Bar Association, a past president of the Joliet Lions club and is affiliated with several Masonic bodies. Brumund is committeeman of the 12th Joliet precinct. He is a member of the First Presbyterian church.

New Lenox School Needs Under Study By Board

The New Lenox school, confronted with an estimated enrollment of 2,000 by the fall of 1968--if present population trends continue--has already begun work on the problem.

Board members have been studying possible solutions to immediate and future problems but are in agreement that all must be given thoro study before any actual planning can be undertaken.

The present school population of the New Lenox grade school system is about 1,300, which is twice the enrollment of five years ago, school officials point out. They add that each new first grade class and each graduating class has the distinction of being the largest to enter school and the largest to be graduated. They see no change in this pattern for several years to come.

The current eighth grade class has 115 members. When this class entered in 1956 there were 71 pupils. The graphic studies of enrollments of the schools of the district over the past 10 years reveal increases similar to those cited.

Enrollment studies and projections compiled by school authorities show a direct relationship with the population studies made by the utility companies for the area.

The 2,000 figure forecast for 1968 is a conservative estimate, school officials say.

Every classroom in the main attendance centers of the New Lenox district are now in use, it was stated. When school opens next September it is estimated that the number of additional pupils enrolled will run from 110 to 120.

The increasing enrollments, district school authorities state, present significant problems that are immediate as well as challenges to be faced in the near future in providing adequate building and educational needs for the boys and girls of New Lenox.

DOMINOS SEEK RECRUITS -- The all-girl color guard sponsored by Bobzin-Swinford post, American Legion, of Frankfort, will begin its new season of contests and programs soon. Graduation has taken its toll and new girls are needed to fill vacancies. Kenneth Brown, director of the Dominos, has already started drills in the Frankfort grade school gymnasium, and invites girls to come out. Any girl in the area who has a C-plus average in high school is eligible. The girls practice once a week in the winter and twice a week in the summer months before parades and contests. In 10 parades entered last summer the Dominos placed first in six and second in one. Next March they will stage their annual contest, "Colors in Motion," in which color guards from many communities participate. (Smithson photo) reported that Al Cutler, then a member of the Will County Aux-present that daily patrols of Arbury Hills would be made by the Will county sheriff's office; that he and two special deputies, Harold Fitch and Tony to issue tickets for speeding in Arbury Hills and that soon they would have car stickers for sale to Arbury Hills residents at $1 a car. Sheriff Joseph Trizna stated this week that as of Nov. 22 there are no deputies in Arbury Hills. Cutler is no longer a member of the auxiliary police force, the sheriff said, and Surma and Fitch no longer deputies. The

PTA Group Hears Talk On Special Education

Telephone: 479-3521
The November meeting of the Mokena PTA was held Tuesday, Nov. 26 and featured a talk by Mrs. Donna Krouk, the special education teacher at Willow Crest. Mrs. Krouk told her audience about the types of special education available to Illinois schools and detailed the services now offered in this area as speech correction, bedside teaching and the teaching of the educable mentally handicapped.

In one of the most interesting PTA programs in several seasons Mrs. Krouk showed examples of her teaching techniques and the results she achieves with them. Illustrating her talk with artwork as well as written material this specially trained teacher brought some of the frustrations and also the joys of her work vividly to her audience.

A lively question period followed her talk and brought out the need for another similar room at the present time and a third one in the foreseeable future. Superintendent James Ennis assured the group that this need was recognized by the respective school boards but that the shortage of school room space and trained teachers were keeping it from being met. He urged all interested residents to express their feelings on this need to their school-board members so that the community interest will be apparent.

Busy Hour Club Plans Xmas Party

DOLORES ANDERSON
485-3651

The Busy Hour 4-H club will meet Thursday evening Dec. 17 for their annual Christmas meeting and party. The girls will first go to the Tinley Park hospital where they will sing carols until 8 p.m., and then return to the home of Ann Chladek for their party and gift exchange.

Troop 333 Girl Scouts are off to a good start to earn "their own" badge. The name chosen for the badge they are working on is "Horsemanship". Primary instructions in their horsemanship riding lesson was given by Mrs. Glen Baker Tuesday. The girls took their lesson on the troop horse that was built by Robert Brown. They named the horse "Ollie Harry", and he was saddled first with an English saddle and then with a Western saddle for instruction.

The saddles used were the courtesy of Windy Hill Farm stables. Saturday, Nov. 16 all girls of the troop went to the stable for their first lesson on a live horse given by Caroline Falkers, stable instructor. This concluded the Junior Scout live program. Most of the girls will continue with their riding lessons. Arrangements have been made for all girls who wish to continue with the lessons on their own.

At the meeting held Nov. 26

Linda Heitman, patrol one leader opened the meeting with the Scout Promise. Plans were made for a Christmas party for Dec. 17. Each girl will have a part in making refreshments for the party.

Patrol 1 will be in charge of songs and games, and Patrol 2 will put on a Skit for the party. Sherri Garish closed the meeting with a song.

The troop is making plans to attend the Bozo Circus in Chicago in the Spring and have swing for tickets.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cullen and family went to Chicago Thanksgiving day where they attended a family gathering in the home of relatives.

Sandburg Swimmers Set 4 Marks In Glenbrook Meet

BY JOHN HELQUIST

The Eagle swimmers entered the Glenbrook pool Saturday, Nov. 30 and left with four varsity records and a 56 to 39 victory. Bob Hutchinson led the record onslaught by completing the 50 yard free style and the 100 yard free style with times of 23.8 and 53.3. John Helquist with a time of 1:03.8 set a varsity record in the 100 yard butterfly. A freshman, Terry Brazel, swimming in his first High School meet, also set a record in completing the 400 yard free style event with a time of 4:38.0.

After the first event, the 200 yard medley relay, it was evident that the two teams were evenly matched. In that race the two relay teams finished the race with the identical time of 1:55.1. The judge, however, proclaimed the Glenbrook quarteret the winner.

In the events leading to the diving there was never more than a few points separating the Eagles and the Spartans of Glen-brook. Bob Hutchinson got a first in the 50 yard free style.
Terry Brazel beat all competitors in the 200 yard free style with a time of 2:04.0. Ron Steb-ner came from behind to win the 200 yard individual medley with a time of 2:29.6.

The diving was the turning point of the meet. Jeff Ferguson captured first place in the event. Terry Johnson, even though handicapped by three stitches in his little toe was awarded second place. Jeff and Terry scored highly on most of their dives. The Glenbrook divers weren't able to even come close to the Eagle diver's score.

After the diving the Eagles began to pull away. John Helquist won the 100 yard butterfly. Bob Hutchinson won the 100 yard free style. Mike McNaughton won the 100 yard backstroke with a time of 1:02.4. Terry Brazel repeated in the 400 yard free style, and the quartet of Art Schuber, Ron Stebner, Loth Leiberstein, and Harry Lemberg touched out the Glenbrook team to capture the 200 yard free style relay in 1:41.0.

In the Eagle's 55 to 40 victory over Glenbrook, Sandburg placed first in every event except the 100 yard breast stroke and the 200 yard medley relay.

The Frosh-Soph, however, were defeated by a score of 56 to 39. In the losing effort firsts were recorded by Jack Herrin in the 100 yard free style with a time of 1:03.7. Jim McNaughton won the 50 yard backstroke with a time of 31.3., and Dwayne Polson won the 300 yard free style with a time of 3:43.4.

Toothpick Ornaments Perk Up Your Christmas Decor

Take your pick of toothpick ornaments for Christmas... or make a battery of them. These unusual, imaginative items are economical, easy to construct, fun to display.

Make your holiday decorating a family affair. From gathering supplies to adding the final touches -- there's a role for everyone.

"Recipe" for holiday handiwork: Mix boxes of round toothpicks with an assortment of Styrofoam balls. Add a touch of bright paper, a pinch of metallic foil and sprinkle liberally with tiny silver balls and snow spray. Combine with a healthy heaping of imagination and serve up frosty trees, delicate angels, glistening wreaths and cherubic carolers to be enjoyed throughout the season.

A toothpick Christmas wreath will adorn your front door, or make a gay centerpiece on the dinner table. Just follow these instructions and watch the wreath bloom before your eyes. Supplies you'll need are:

1. Round toothpicks -- approximately 5 boxes.
2. Six three-inch Styrofoam balls.
3. Food coloring (red and green).
4. One can of snow spray.

First step is to cut the Styrofoam balls in half, and place flat side down around the rim of a 9" plate. This helps to form the wreath. Join with plenty of toothpicks to hold them securely.

Next, take the food coloring and pour into two small glasses, each 1/2" deep. Hold several toothpicks in your hand, dip the ends into the red or green coloring and dry them on newspaper.

Using a thimble, insert the uncolored ends of the toothpicks into each halved ball, alternating between red and green. (You'll need about 100 picks for each halved Styrofoam section.)

For the finishing touches, spray the wreath with snow spray, or glitter.

Why not have a decorating party? Gather all the kids together, serve punch and refreshments, and see how fast your home is transformed into a Christmas wonderland.

Let the youngsters make all the toothpick Christmas trees -- each one can have his own special tree. You'll need:

1. Approximately 8 boxes of round toothpicks.
2. Sixteen one-inch Styrofoam balls.
3. One can of snow spray.
4. Miniature tree ornaments in many colors.

Begin by sticking toothpicks into each Styrofoam ball -- as many as will fit. Then arrange seven pincushion balls in a circle to form the base of the tree. Put a circle of five balls on top of the base, next a circle of three, and finally, one on the top.

Create a wintry feeling with the white snow spray. It's even possible to get unusual color effects with different shades of red, green or blue spray.

Finally, place the glittering ornaments on the boughs of the tree.

Angels are as much a part of the holiday season as the tree, so of course, you'll want them to grace your mantle. Each angel needs:

1. 18 round toothpicks
2. 1 large gum drop
3. 1 large marshmallow
4. White crepe paper
5. Six inches of 1/4" yellow ribbon
6. Food coloring or water color

To make the head and body, hold 10 toothpicks together; insert in the rounded top of the gum drop. Stick the opposite ends of the picks in the marshmallow.

Cut a 5" x 14" piece of white crepe paper for the robe. Crease one long side one-half inch from the edge -- place fold over a ruler and push together to shirr the paper. (This makes the robe billow out.) Place the robe around the body of the angel below the head; insert 3" of ribbon under shirred fold, and tie.

For the halo, tneighthaved toothpicks on one end in yellow coloring. Insert them in the head in halo shape and trim with remaining ribbon. You can easily design your own facial features by dipping the tips of toothpicks in dark coloring, and drawing the face on the marshmallow.

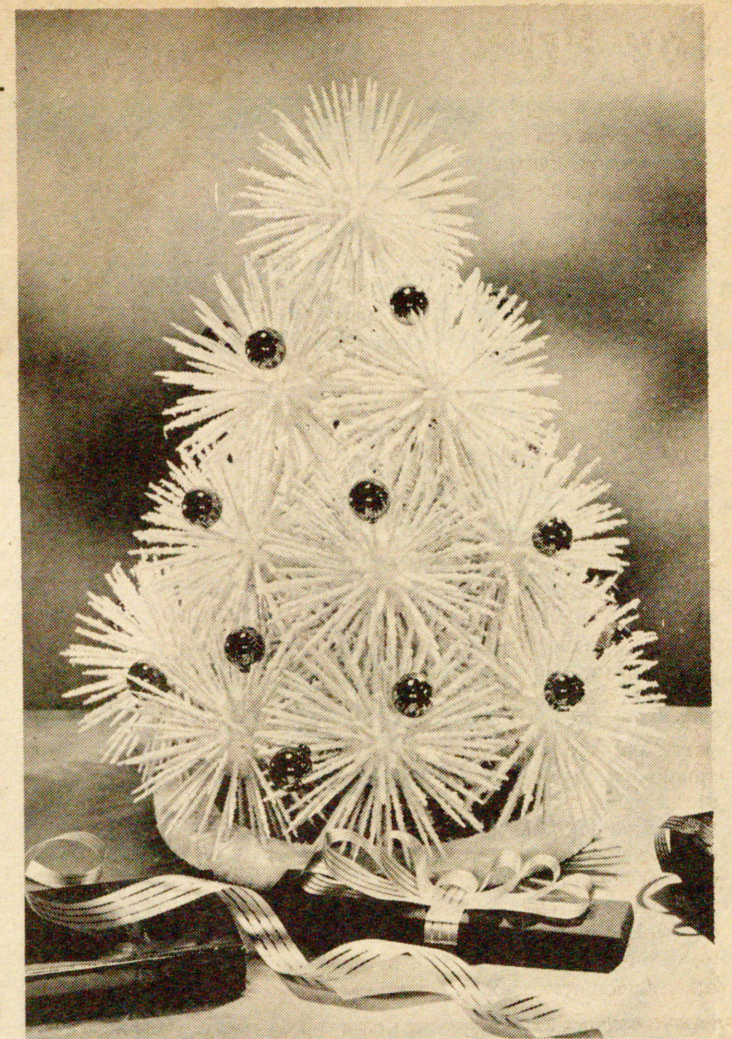

No Christmas scene is complete without its cherubic choir boys. Place them on the mantle with the angels, to sing out their welcome when old St. Nick comes down the chimney. For each choir boy, get:

1. 12 round toothpicks
2. 1 large gum drop
3. 1 large marshmallow
4. Food coloring or water color
5. Red crepe paper
6. 1 round 5" paper-lace doily
7. Green gift-wrap paper or foil
8. Bit of colored yarn

Start with the body and head, using the same directions as for the angel. But, make the shirred robe of red crepe paper, tying around the neck with twine. For the surplice, cut a tiny circle from the center of the doily, and slit down one side. Place over the robe, and secure in back of the figure with a toothpick.

Frizz the end of 3/4" of yellow, red or brown yarn for the hair, and keep it in place by using a halved toothpick. Draw in the face with toothpicks dipped in dark coloring. For the hymnal, cut green gift-wrap or foil in 1" x 2" piece, and affix to one end of the toothpick. Insert opposite end through robe into the body.

With these unusual toothpick ornaments it's very easy to create a holiday wonderland in your own home. But, be prepared to answer questions of admiring guests...they'll never believe you made such unique Christmas attractions all by yourself.

FROSTY TOOTHPICK TREE--Take these ingredients: a couple of boxes of round toothpicks, styrofoam balls, assorted ornaments and a can of spray 'snow', mix with energy and a little imagination and presto: a Frosty Christmas Toothpick Tree.

Toy Primer For Parents

Not just at Christmas, but all year round, parents of preschool youngsters face the "toy shop dilemma." How do you select the right toys for a fast-growing youngster? Will they hold his interest? Will they help develop new skills and creativity? Are they safe? Will he think they are fun?

First, remember that toys do more than merely amuse a child -- they're the tools he learns with during his preschool days. To aid parents make the right decisions in this important area, Playskool Research, specialists in developing toys for pre-school children, suggest several basic guides to toy selection.

Be certain that the toys you select are the right ones for the particular age of the child. They should match his stage of physical and mental growth. A toy that is too complicated is frustrating; one that is too simple will not hold his interest.

All your child's toys should be well-constructed, wooden toys should be close-grained, with rounded corners and sanded surfaces to prevent splinters. All removable parts should be oversized -- too large to be swallowed. Make certain that paint is non-toxic. When junior decides to really sink his teeth into a new project, it should be safe. Youngsters give toys a rough workout, so see that they're sturdy enough to withstand his energy.

Several items which Playskool Research includes in its list of don'ts for parents are:

DON'T run out to the toy stores in search of the "latest gimmicks." They usually hold only fleeting interest for the child, and then wind up broken or on his toy shelf -- permanently! Try the old stand-bys, such as blocks, drop-boxes and pound-a-pegs. They've proven themselves among generations of children and are among the most respected of children's toys.

DON'T buy toys just because they are "perfect replicas." Remember that young children love to use their imagination with a toy and bring it into their world of make-believe.

DON'T buy electrical toys for children under six.

DON'T put all your Christmas toys in one stocking! Spread your toy budget throughout the year -- children's interests and skills change and develop quickly and they love having "Christmas" several times a year.

DON'T buy toys just because they appeal to you. Think of the child's interests and needs first.

Encourage your child to use his imagination in playing. Long play periods are possible when he can become an active participant, rather than a passive observer.

Stodie's conducted indicate that the pre-schooler's span of attention is usually short. Don't expect him to play with any one toy too long a time. This is why a small selection of toys should be handy. The child can then return the item he's tired of and choose a new one. However, don't surround your youngster with too many toys at once -- they distract the attention and interfere with concentration. A toy chest, or low toy shelves will solve this problem. Let your youngster know that this area is his very own, and his responsibility. Even a two-year-old can learn to pick up toys and put them where they belong.

A proper "mix" in toy selection is important. . . some to help mental growth, some for physical development, and some to widen his social scope. It's even possible to promote future professional or vocational interests through the right toys.

Healthful play habits are the foundation of a well-adjusted, balanced personality in years to come. With the proper selection of the "right toys for every age," parents can help a child become an adult for whom learning will always be fun.

Book Aids In Planning Of Christmas Parties

Plan your Christmas parties and programs now with the help of the University of Illinois handbook, "May Your Days Be Merry and Bright."

Prepared by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, this booklet features a collection of ideas for many occasions. Some of them are suitable for family celebrations; others are useful for neighborhood, club and community groups.

According to Karl Munson, University of Illinois extension recreation specialist, the 20 poems and articles highlight traditions and folklore. The bibliographies of stories and plays provide extra sources of information.

The book also contains sections on parties, carols, decorations and cooking.

The section on parties includes information about invitations, favors, games and specialty parties. The more than 15 recipes include candies, cookies, cakes and punches.

Munson points out one decoration that youngsters can make: a stained glass window. To make the window, cut a piece of wrapping paper the exact size of the glass. If the window is broken up into small panes, cut the paper to fit each pane. Make up a simple design that will give a "stained glass look." Outline the different areas in the design with black crayon to represent the lead that seals the glass together. Fill in the rest of the design with different colored crayons, using the brightest possible colors. After finishing the color work, rub the surface lightly with a clean rag, the center of which has been dipped into light machine oil. The oil will dissolve the crayons somewhat and blend the colors together. Paste the different parts of the glass in the window by using library paste around the edges underneath.

Interested persons may obtain this handbook, RRE 28, from their county home adviser or from the Agricultural Economics Department, 305 Mumford Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. The handbook costs 50 cents.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD H. BLUME

Couple Wed At Double Ring Ceremony

White mums and white pom-poms graced the altar of the Immanuel Ev. Lutheran church, Matteson, for the double ring wedding ceremony, performed at 3 p.m., Oct. 27, by the Rev. A. E. Ullrich, that united in marriage, Carol Ann Schoeling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schoeling, Frankfort; and Richard H. Blume, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt Blume, Tinley Park.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her gown was of Chantilly lace fashioned with a princess waistline, long tapered sleeves and a round neckline of scalloped lace, trimmed with sequins. A crown of pearls and sequins formed her headpiece and the bouquet was of white, mums with trailing fugi pom-poms and ivy. The attendants, Mrs. Carl Jean Schoeling, matron of honor; Lois and Loretta Blume, wore emerald green street length gowns of silk organza with scoop neckline, bell skirts accented with rose buds, and cap sleeves. Rose petal hats with blusher veils, and shoes all matched their gowns. Short white gloves and pearl necklaces gifts of the bride, completed their costumes. Each carried a bouquet of yellow mums with trailing bronze pom-poms.

The groom's attendants were: Leonard Schrank, best man; Donald Cooper, Dennis Schoeling, groomsmen; Irwin Eiskamp and Howard Tatgenhorst, ushers.

Robert Stogentin sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Grant O Lord Thy Blessing", accompanied by Otto G. Beccue.

For the occasion the bride's mother chose to wear a blue sheath with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore an ivory brocade sheath with brown accessories.

A reception was held at the Homewood V.F.W. hall with Sandra Manzke in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln-Way Community High school, New Lenox; and is employed at the Homewood Savings and Loan Association. The groom graduated from Rich East High school and is now employed at Plastic Convertors, Inc., Homewood.

Holiday Greetings Present A Story

There's quite a story behind those Christmas greetings you'll be sending and receiving by the dozen this holiday season.

WOODCUT WAS FIRST
The earliest known holiday greeting was actually a crude woodcut printed in 1450 in the Rhine Valley, Germany.

The card shows the Christmas Child standing in the bow of an ancient galley manned by angels, with the Holy Mother seated at the mast. The inscription reads: "Here I come from Alexandria and bring many good years to give generously. I will give them for almost no money and have only God's love for my reward."

Sir Henry Cole, an Englishman, is credited with publishing the first "mass produced" Christmas greeting. In 1843, he had an artist, John Horsley design a Christmas greeting for him because he was "Too busy to write to his friends at Christmas." The card carried the message: "A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year To You."

Cole had 1000 copies of the card printed which showed a friendly family party in progress, the oldsters with raised wine glasses in a toast to the person receiving the card.

Although Cole was hailed for his idea of inventing the Christmas card, his greeting met with severe criticism because it showed children at the same table with wine drinkers.

The first cards were unfolded pasteboards printed in color. Late in the 1850's and 60's cards were die-stamped with designs combining ornaments and lettering. Larger cards became more popular in the 1880's.

By then, the idea had been introduced into the United States. Louis Prang, a prominent Boston lithographer, looked for ways to increase his business, began making Christmas cards in 1875.

Hold Advent Services At Palos Center

As part of the regular Christmas program at the Community Center Foundation, Palos Park, advent vesper candlelight services are being held each Sunday at 4:30 p.m. in the Wayside Chapel thru Dec. 22, The Foundation is located at Southwest Highway and 127th street.

These services are conducted by the Rev. Paul T. Sanders, director and founder of the Foundation. A welcome is extended to people of all religious faiths. After the services, a fellowship tea is served in the main lodge.

Choral Club Presenting 'Messiah'

Swedish Choral club will give its annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" under the direction of its new conductor, Dr. Robert Lodine, on Friday, Dec. 13 at 8:15 p.m. in Orchestra Hall.

Ruth Cohrs, Flossmoor Road Tinley Park, is a member of the chorus.

This will be the group's first concert under Dr. Lodine's direction. Dr. Lodine is director of music at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church and is on the faculty of the American Conservatory of Music. He is Dean of the American Guild of Organists, Chicago Chapter. He studied music in Paris for a year and received his doctor's degree at Northwestern University.

Members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and Vernon Stuit, organist, will accompany the chorus. Soloists will be Mary Ludeman, soprano; Evelyn Reynolds, mezzo - contralto; Lawrence Lane, tenor and Bernard Izzo, bass.

There is no record of any commemoration of Christmas during the life of Christ... Christian tradition says that Christmas was first celebrated in A.D. 98... However, it was well into the fourth century before the celebration of Christmas became general...

Actually, it wasn't until about A.D. 340 that December 25 was established as the uniform date for the celebration... The date was fixed after a very careful investigation by Christian authorities...

Several centuries ago the celebration was confined to solemn rejoicing and religious dedication, with none of the modern gaiety... The New England puritans even banned joyous yuletide demonstrations in those days... Eventually, New Englanders and other Americans followed the lead of the New York Dutch settlers and succumbed to the charm of Saint Nick or Santa Claus...

Even so, the jolly gent had a flourishing career long before he reached our shores... More than 1,600 years ago there was a St. Nicholas, a Turkish bishop whose countless works of charity made him a legend in his own time... Martyred in A.D. 342, he became the patron saint of all children of three nations, Greece, Holland and Belgium...

People pictured St. Nicholas on a white horse but when his fame spread to the Scandinavian countries the horse in the apparition gave way to a reindeer-drawn sled Prang was an expert in the art of what he called "chromolithography" and his work and reputation was well established thruout Europe. By using slabs of a particular limestone found only in Bavaria, he printed pictures in multicolors, as many as 32 different shades at times. He reproduced them so perfectly that you could scarcely tell them from the original paintings.

Prang sponsored an art competition to obtain his card designs. Within five years he was turning out five million cards a year, and it wasn't long before Prang cards trimmed with silk fringe and lace, also became known worldwide. Although Prang gave up printing Christmas cards in the 1890's, he is credited with establishing in America the joy of sending and receiving Christmas cards, and is known as the "father" of the American Christmas card.

The first American Christmas card, however, had been printed in 1853, when R. J. Pease, an Albany, N.Y. dry goods merchant, designed, printed and mailed a Christmas card which also served as an advertisement for his products.

The only known remaining original of the Pease card is now housed in the Rust Craft antique greeting card collection.

Schmaedeke-Schoeling

St. Paul's Scene Of Nuptials

Before the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Tinley Park, Miss Carol Jean Schmaedeke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Schmaedeke, Mokena; and Eldon A. Schoeling, son of Arthur H. Schoeling, Chicago Heights; exchanged nuptial vows at a three o'clock ceremony, Saturday, Oct. 5, with the Rev. Kenneth Gigstad officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, escorted by her father to the altar, was attired in a gown of imported Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice with long Chantilly lace pointed sleeves, had a sabrina neckline. The bouffant skirt had alternating tiers of permanent pleated nylon tulle and lace and was adorned with pearls and sequins along the side and on the bodice. The back of the skirt fell into a long cathedral train.

The imported silk illusion bouffant veil was caught to a wedding cake crown of lace adorned with pearls and sequins.

Her only jewelry was a locket worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Otto Stuenkel and by her mother on their wedding day. To complete her white ensemble, the bride carried a bouquet of white pompons and stephanotis, centered with two orchids and ivy foliage.

The bride's attendants, carrying out an autumn hue color scheme, wore floor length gowns of satin peau with scoop necklines, three-quarter length bracelet sleeves, and bouffant wedding bell silhouette skirts with removable court trains.

To match their gowns, they wore pleated picture hats accented with a large matching bow in the back and also short, pointed gauntlets accented with a tiny bow on the side. Their only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Each carried a bouquet of white pompons, with centers tinted to match the gown, surrounding a large matching mum, with a touch of ivy. They also carried crocheted matching hankies made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Frieda Schmaedeke, and white satin purses, which were gifts from the bride.

The former Miss Carol Ann Schoeling, of Frankfort, served as maid-of-honor gown in royal blue. Other bridesmaids were Miss Darline Schoeling, Chicago Heights, in copper glow; Miss Marilyn Schoeling, Chicago Heights, in emerald green; Mrs. Carole Schmaedeke, Mokena, in brilliant red; and Miss Yvonne Twietmeyer, Frankfort, in antique gold.

Nancy Keuch, godchild of the bride, was a miniature bride. Her gown, crown, and flowers matched the attire of the bride. The locket she wore and white crocheted hanky, she carried, as did the bride, were gifts of the bride.

Best man was Dennis Hartman of Park Forest. Serving as groomsmen were Argil Matthews of Park Forest; Dennis Minnema of Holland, Mich.; Wilbur Schmaedeke, Mokena; and Howard Tatgenhorst of Tinley Park. Jerry Stuenkel was ring bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baumgartner sang "The Wedding Prayer", "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "The Lord's Prayer".

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a royal blue chiffon dress with sequin trimmed scalloped lace overblouse. Her hat was of white sequins and her flowers were amazon lillies.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Otto Stuenkel, wore an embossed patterned blue silk crepe dress with white accessories. Mrs. Frieda Schmaedeke, paternal grandmother, wore a schiffli embroidered blue silk crepe dress and jacket with blue accessories. Both wore corsages of white pompons.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Atrium Community hall in Peotone for over 500 guests. Misses Diane and Janet Keuch handled the guest register. Out-of-town guests were from Bancroft, Neb.; Minot, N.D.; Holland, Mich.; Chicago, Woodstock, Paxton and neighboring communities.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln-Way Community High school and is employed as a secretary with Prudential Insurance Company, Chicago, and also as a private piano teacher.

The groom is a graduate of Bloom Township High school and has just completed serving two years in the army at Fort Knox, Ky. He is currently employed with Joseph A. Schudt and Associates of Park Forest.

Following a motor trip to the southeastern states, the young couple are now at home in Tinley Park.

Turkeys Cook Quicker Now Than In The Past

Homemakers no longer need to roast turkey as long as many cookbooks say.

As a result of developments in production practices, turkeys are more tender than they used to be, explains Mrs. Glenna Lamkin, University of Illinois home economist.

She suggests the following guide, based on purchase weight, for estimating roasting time for stuffed birds that are fresh or completely thawed: 6 to 8 pounds, 2 to 2 1/2 hours; 8 to 12 pounds, 2 1/2 to 3 hours; 12 to 16 pounds, 3 to 3 3/4 hours; 16 to 20 pounds, 3 3/4 to 4 1/2 hours; 20 to 24 pounds, 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours.

Adjust cooking time to individual birds.

Roast turkeys in a pre-heated oven at 300 to 325 degrees F. The turkey is done when a meat thermometer placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle or the thickest part of the breast muscle registers about 185 degrees F. Also, the thickest part of the drumstick feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

Time roasting accurately. Prolonged cooking makes a dry bird.

Two ways to keep the turkey breast juicy during cooking are to (1) brush on fat at the beginning of cooking and baste occasionally with pan drippings; or (2) keep a fat-saturated cheesecloth over the breast.

Some people feel that the breast dries out less when the turkey is placed breast down for one-half to two-thirds of the cooking and then turned over for the rest of the time to even up the browning. This is easier to do with small birds than with large ones.

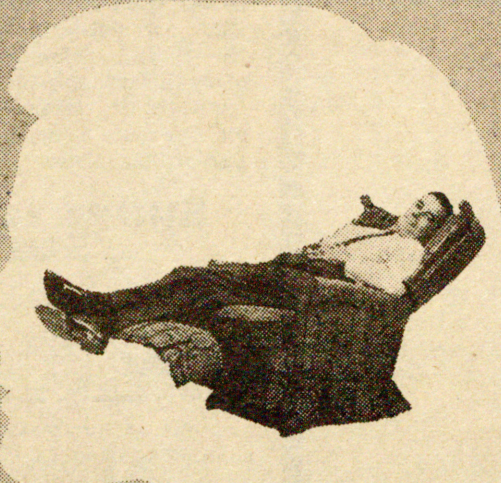

Cook fresh or thawed turkey promptly. Stuff it just before cooking. Leaving a stuffed bird at room temperature overnight invites food poisoning.

When buying a whole turkey, be sure it is plump and has a broad breast, indicating ample white meat. It should also be compact, have smooth-textured skin and be free from discoloration and bruises.

Check to make sure that the wrapping around frozen birds is intact at the time of purchase. Broken wrappings let in air and thus lower the quality of the bird.

Thaw frozen birds in the original wrapping in the refrigerator, allowing about two days. Do not thaw at room temperature. If you must hasten defrosting, place the bird in cold water and change the water frequently.
